THE WEDDING.

Graphic Description of the Ceremony and Surroundings.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—President Cleveland and Miss Folsom were married in the White House at 7:25 last evening.

Towards evening one by one the lights sprung up at the windows and the great burners on the portico cast their effulgence over the pavements. The scene resembled a summer night's festival, and the crowd gave itself up to the enjoyment of the delightful music.

With short intermissions the fine orchestra rendered the following selections: Bolero, "I O son la Rosa," by Miranna; "Invitation a la Valse," by Weber; "Spring Song," by Mendelssohn; Romance, "Bright Star of Hope," and Mosaic "Desire," by Sousa.

About half-past 6 o'clock the wedding guests began to arrive, their carriages rolling up to the main door of the mansion through the great iron gates on Pennsylvania avenue.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND.

The guests sat chatting until 7:15, when the orchestra from the marine band, stationed in the corridor, struck up the familiar strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march and all eyes were turned to the doorway to catch the first glimpse of the coming bride and groom. Starting from the western corridor on the upper floor, the president came slowly down the western stair case with his bride leaning on his arm. They were unaccompanied, even the bride's mother awaiting her with other guests. Passing through the central corridor the bride and groom entered the blue room and took position near its southern wall, which was completely hidden from sight by a mass of nodding palms, tropical grasses and an endless variety of choice flowers. The crystal chandelier shed a flood of mellow radiance upon the scene and the colors of the massive banks of scarlet begonias and royal jequeminot roses, mingled with the blue and silver tints of the frescoed walls and ceiling, gave a warm and glowing tone to the whole ceremonial interior. The delicate ivory shales of the bride's wedding gown formed an exquisite setting in the masses of crimson roses immediately beyond. The president was in full evening dress, with turned down collar, white lawn necktie and white enameled studs.

A hush fell upon the assemblage as Dr. Sunderland stepped forward to his position fronting the wedding couple with Rev. Cleveland, the president's brother. In a distinct tone of voice, and with a deliberate utterance, the doctor began the simple and beautiful wedding service by a brief prayer.

Addressing the company Dr. Sunderland said: "Marriage is honorable among all men, in that a man shall leave his father and mother and shall cleave unto his wife and the twain shall be of one flesh. It was constituted by our creator in the first paradise; it was confessed by patriarch and prophet and apostle. It was confirmed by the teaching and adorned by the presence of the Redeemer, and has been honored by the faithful keeping of all good men and women since the world began. It is not, therefore, to be undertaken lightly or unadvisedly, but soberly, discreetly and in the fear of God. Into this holy estate this man and this woman come now to enter. If any now can show just cause why they may not be lawfully united in marriage, let him now speak, or else hereafter hold his peace."

To the bride and groom—If you desire to be united in marriage, you will signify the same by joining your right hands.

[The groom and bride joined hands.] "Grover," said the minister, "do you take this woman whom you hold by the hand to be your lawful wedded wife, to live together after God's ordinance in the holy estate of wedlock? Do you promise to love her, cherish, comfort and keep her in sickness and in health, in joy and in sorrow, and forsaking all others, keep you only unto her so long as you both shall live?"

The groom, firmly,—"I do."

Dr. Sunderland—"Frances, do you take this man whom you hold by the hand to be your lawful wedded husband, to live together after God's ordinance in the holy estate of wedlock? Do you promise to love him, honor, comfort and keep him in sickness and in health, in joy and in sorrow, and forsaking all others, keep you only unto him so long as you both shall live?"

The bride responded, in a low but clear voice, "I do."

"In token of the same let the wedding ring be passed." [The groom places the ring on the bride's finger.]

"For as much as Grover and Frances have here agreed and covenanted to live together after God's ordinance, in the holy estate of wedlock, and have confirmed the same by giving and taking a wedding ring, now, therefore, in the presence of this company, in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, I pronounce and declare that they are husband and wife, and what God hath joined together let no man put asunder."

The Rev. Mr. Cleveland then pronounced the following benediction: "God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Ghost, bless, preserve and keep you. The Lord mercifully fill you with all the temporal and spiritual blessings, and grant that you may so live together in this world that in the world to come you may have life everlasting. Amen."

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Mrs. Folsom, showing traces of deep emotion, was the first to tender her congratulations to the newly married pair. She was followed by Miss Cleveland, Rev. Mr. Cleveland and other relatives and friends in turn. While the congratulations were in progress, the band under the leadership of Professor Sousa, performed the bridal chorus march from Lohengrin, and to this music the president and his wife led the way into the stately dining room.

The adornments in this stately hall were majestic in the proportions.

MISS FOLSOM'S BIRTHPLACE.

478 Franklin street, Buffalo, N. Y.

After supper Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland quietly departed for Deer Park, where they will occupy a cottage for a week. The guests took their leave later.

The bride wore an enchanting wedding dress of ivory satin, simply garnished on the high corsage with India muslin oressed in Grecian folds and carried in exquisite falls of simplicity over the petticoat. The orange blossom garlands, commencing upon the veil in a superb coronet, is continued throughout the costume, with artistic skill. Her veil of tulle, about five yards in length, completely enveloped her form, behind extending the whole length of her full court train. She carried no flowers, and wore no jewelry except an engagement ring containing a sapphire and two diamonds and a plain gold wedding ring, which had been placed upon her finger before she descended the stair case.

Just as the wedding ceremony began a presidential salute was fired by a battery of artillery near the river, and the chime bells of the Metropolitan M. E. church pealed forth the Mendelssohn wedding march, and bells in other churches joined in the happy salute. The gentlemen present at the wedding were not fortunate enough to receive a salute from the bride, who confined her kisses to the ladies. Otherwise the ceremony was orthodox in form. The executive mansion was opened to day and photographers received permission to perpetuate pictorially the elaborate decorations of the interior.

Mrs. Cleveland's hair is soft and brown, and of a shade between light and dark. She wears it combed back from her forehead and loose, wavy tendrils escape here and there. She has violet blue eyes and a rather large nose. Her eyebrows are very heavy and nearly meet. The chief and striking beauty of her face is her mouth and chin. Mr. Farnham, the artist, once said that Miss Folsom had the most beautiful mouth he had ever seen.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S CONGRATULATIONS.

LONDON, June 3.—The queen has sent the following cable message to President Cleveland:

"Pray accept my sincere congratulations on your marriage, and may best wishes for your happiness."

VICTORIA."

AT DEER PARK.

The President and Bride in Their Cottage.

DEER PARK, Md., June 3.—President Cleveland and bride arrived here at 4 o'clock this morning and are domiciled in one of the cottages to the hotel. There are but few persons here, as there was no knowledge that the bridal party would come here. President and Mrs. Cleveland are sojourning very quietly. A large influx of visitors is looked for.

MISS FRANKIE FOLSOM.

DEER PARK, Md., June 3.—The place which has been selected for the presidential honeymoon is on the crest of the Alleghenies. The house is what is known as the cottage of Ex-Senator Henry Davis, of West Virginia, and is situated about one-half mile east of Deer Park hotel, in the midst of a group of cottages. It is a large two story frame house constructed especially by its owner for the use of his family in the summer. The president and his bride will find abundant use for the horses with which his friends have provided them. The drives are a charming feature of the place, the roads being particularly well constructed. The president will not be annoyed by the presence of guests at the hotels at Deer Park and Oakland, as these hotels do not open until late in June.

THE LADIES

Make a Rush for the White House.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Nearly 2,000 persons, principally ladies, entered the White House grounds to day in hope of being able to inspect the floral decorations and particularly the blue room, where the marriage was solemnized last evening. They were not admitted, and by 1 o'clock all the decorations were removed. Most of the flowers used in the decorations were distributed among the city hospitals.

The Knights of Labor.

CLEVELAND, June 3.—At this morning's meeting of the general assembly of the Knights of Labor, David R. Gibson, of Hamilton, Ont., James R. Buchanan, of Denver, Col., and Ira B. Ayleworth, of Baltimore, Md., were elected assistants to the executive board.

CRASH!

Goes a Locomotive Boiler at Bellaire.

Three Road Men are Instantly Killed and Much Other Damage Inflicted.

Frightful Explosion in a Store at Ecrose, Mich.—Three People are Mangled.

A TERROR.

A Locomotive Boiler Explodes With Awful Havoc.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 3.—A Baltimore and Ohio local freight, while standing on the track in the yard at Bellaire, Ohio, this morning, exploded its boiler with terrific force, killing Engineer Johnston, Fireman John Vandevort and Mat Hammond, the engineer of another engine, all of Newark, Ohio. Two of the bodies were blown one hundred yards. Fragments of the locomotive were blown through an adjoining house with great damage to the furniture. The shock was felt all over Bellaire, breaking glass in windows squares away.

ANOTHER TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

DETROIT, June 3.—Late last night, in Ecrose, a small town west of here, an explosion wrecked the store of Joseph Salliett and badly injured four persons.

Miss Carrie Salliett, aged 18, had her left wrist broken and received internal injuries.

Columbus Labie, Salliett's son-in-law, was taken from the wreck insensible and bleeding from wounds in his head and chest.

Mr. Salliett and wife were not seriously injured. Others were in the building but miraculously escaped. The cause of the explosion is a mystery.

ALL EXCITEMENT

In the Chicago Wheat Market To-day.

CHICAGO, June 3, 11:15 a. m.—The wheat pit was crowded with traders at the opening. The startling price for July wheat ranged any where from 77½ to 78½ in different portions of the pit. The buyers largely outnumbered the sellers, however, and the price rose to 78½, broke off quickly to 77½, rose again to 77½ and is now quoted at 78 with a nervous and unsettled feeling.

A GOOD ONE

President Cleveland's Last Official Act.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—One of the last official acts of the president, previous to his marriage, was the pardoning of D. F. Bigelow, the defaulting agent of the National bank of this city, who three years ago was sentenced to five years imprisonment. During his imprisonment his wife died, leaving seven small children in care of their grandparents.

OLEOMARGERINE.

The House Still Working on Bogus Butter.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—In the temporary absence of the speaker Mr. Welborne was designated speaker pro tem. Mr. O'Neill, from the committee on labor, reported back the senate bill extending the provisions of the eight hour law to the letter carriers. Placed on the house calendar.

The house then resumed consideration of the oleomargerine bill.

Local Option Defeated.

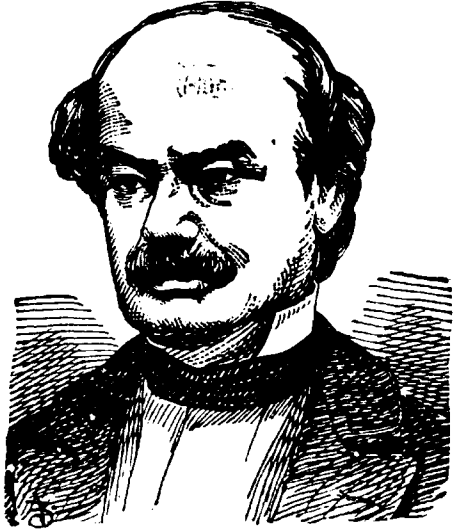

TRENTON, N. J.—In the house yesterday a bill providing for local option throughout the state on the liquor question was defeated by a vote of 22 to 31.

Attorney-General Hord has been discharged from the insane hospital very much improved in health. He was at his office yesterday morning, and will leave to-day for an extended trip in the Yellowstone park.

Col. C. C. Matson was renominated for congress by the fifth district democratic convention on the third ballot, receiving ninety-five votes, eighty-nine being necessary to a choice. There was much enthusiasm.

GEN. F. E. SPINNER.

The news of the recent illness of ex-United States Treasurer Spinner brought regrets to all who have ever known him either in a business or a social way, for he was a straightforward business man and a genial friend and companion. But none will feel more sincere sorrow over the news of his ill health than the women employees of the treasury department, and in fact of the whole government. For it was Gen. Spinner who broke down the barrier which prevented their performing clerical work for the government. This occurred during the war when the regular clerks were disappearing to enlist in the army, and it looked as if there were not going to be men enough to go around. Then it was that the chivalric Gen. Spinner suggested to President Lincoln that an opportunity be given women to take the men's places where possible. It is astonishing when we look at it to think of the opposition this idea met with. But Spinner gained his point, and the entire of women into the government service may be looked upon as a "war measure" just as Ben Butler's suggestion to make the "darkies" contrabands.

Gen. Spinner was born in New York state in 1832. His father was a clergyman and the cashier of the Mohawk Valley bank for twenty years. He gave his son a classical education. He learned several trades and then embarked as a merchant. He was appointed and held responsible positions in the New York custom house from 1845 to 1849. He was elected to the Thirty-fourth congress as an anti-slavery Democrat, and re-elected to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth congresses, though he was elected to the latter as a Republican. On March 10, 1861, President Lincoln appointed him treasurer of the United States, soon after which his wonderful autograph on the paper money became a welcome visitor in the households of the land. This signature, which we reproduce in fac-simile, will always remain one of the curiosities of chirography. Since the general's sojourn in Florida during the past ten years, it was remarked that the alligators avoided his locality. Why this was could not be determined, until one day a large "igator" was noticed crawling out on the bank of a bayou where the general had, as was his habit, inscribed his name with his cane in the soft mud. The alligator stopped when he came to the signature, looked at it in a puzzled sort of way and then dashed back into the bayou as if the mysterious hieroglyphics portended some terrible calamity for him, at least this is the way the story goes.

Gen. Spinner retired to private life July 1, 1875. When he did so all the wealth in the United States treasury till had to be counted. Then it was that a deficiency was discovered amounting to one cent. To account for this a memorable recounting took place, requiring days upon days, until the missing cent was found and the general retired from the treasury, leaving balanced books.

LIFE STUDIES.

DESPAIR means that the last bridge is gone.

THE violin that is kept constantly in tune will lose in tone.

THERE is not much difference between careless extravagance and a hole in the pocket.

"HEAVEN REVEALED," is the title of a work recently issued. Another cook book, most likely.

IT is better for the general health of a community to have one good-natured man in a neighborhood than four doctors.

THE parent who never tell a child that he loves it except when about to give it a good licking makes a terrible mistake.

THE average plug hat only weighs a few ounces, and yet the effect it has on some men is to make them feel as though they weighed a ton.

SOME people go on the principle that the best discipline for a boy is to find out what he doesn't like, and then give him oceans of that very thing.

AN Irishman wrote home to his friends over the briny that in this blessed land everybody is so honest, a reward has to be offered for thieves.

THE average man goes about some things with as much awe as an old maid would handle a razor. Coming in from the lodge at two a. m., for instance.

IN every life there comes a time when hope is crushed, but the man with a healthy liver and a shirt that doesn't pinch in the neck seldom gets discouraged.

SOME folks claim that there is no evil that is not followed by an overplus compensating good. At Pueblo, Colorado, a cat and dog, which had been playing with some clothing belonging to a child that had been taken with scarlet fever, both took the disease and died. Discouraged people who have lost faith in boot-jacks should paste this in their hats.—Lige Brown, in Chicago Ledger.

BLAINE!

Is Severely Scored and Criticised,

But Explains His Recent Home Rule Utterances to Relieve a Personal Thrust.

The Home Rule Bill Will Arrive at a Test Vote Next Monday.

JAMES J. BLAINE

Is Fiercely Assailed, but Explains Himself.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 3.—The Kennebec Journal this morning publishes a letter from Mr. Blaine, denying that in his recent speech at Portland he had applied the words "impudent," "insolent" and "brutal" to Lord Salisbury. Mr. Blaine writes: "I was referring to his lordship's declaration that the Irish might remain as they now are or emigrate and I said interrogatively 'Is not this an impudent proposition?' Is it not insolent in its terms? Does it indeed stop short of being brutal in its cruelty? It is parliamentary to say that a statement is not true, but altogether unparliamentary to say that its author is guilty of falsehood. The first describes the thing, the second assails the person. My characterization was aimed at the proposition and not at Lord Salisbury personally."

MR. BLAINE ARRIGNED.

LONDON, June 1.—The Times commenting on Blaine's Portland speech, says, "Mr. Blaine may or may not catch the Irish vote by such performances, and so with the prize, which, fully as much on personal as on political grounds has been snatched from him once and again; but we refuse to believe that his ignorant and presumptuous rant represents honest and independent opinion and the reflection of the Americans. It is peculiarly absurd that he should pose as an advocate of a plan which he supposes, quite wrongly of course, would place Ireland in the position of a state of the Union. He has been conspicuous for the same reasons which now make him a flatterer of the Irish, in the bloody shirt campaign against the southern state rights and if any southern state should now attempt to deprive negroes of suffrage he would be first to favor a settlement of that local affair by the armed interference of the central government."

HOME RULE BILL.

LONDON, June 3.—It is probable that the conservatives will, to-morrow, move in the house of commons that a censure be applied to the home rule debate in order to secure a division on the second reading before Whitsuntide.

It is not likely that the government will oppose the motion. Mr. Gladstone has fixed Monday as the date for the division.

Yellow Fever Raging.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Private advices received to-day from Ceylon state that the yellow fever is now epidemic on the isthmus. Average daily number of deaths about fifty.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Wheat, 1½¢, higher. No. 2 red June 85½¢ to 86½¢. Corn, shade easier, dull, 37¢ to 44¢. Oats, dull, weak, 37¢ to 44¢.

CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, June 3.—The Bull movement in wheat continued again to-day until the close. July touched 79½, an advance of 5½¢ from the lowest figure yesterday. Close nearly at top figures, at 77½¢. Corn, steady at 85½¢. Oats, steady at 26¢.

A BIG LOCKOUT.

Is Momentarily Threatened at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—A great lockout of planing mill employees and carpenters, 15,000 in all, is threatened.

A FAIR TRIAL IN TERRE HAUTE.

The nineteenth century is said to be the age of skepticism, and so perhaps it is as regards religion, but its practical spirit inclines it to look favorably on everything that promises immediate benefit and it is always ready to give everything that seems useful a fair trial. The West especially has ever been open and cordial to all new ideas, and this may partly explain why Athlaphora, the sovereign remedy for rheumatism and neuralgia, has secured such a strong footing in Terre Haute. A well-known citizen who has the most implicit faith in it is Mr. R. Forster, the furniture dealer at No. 320 Main street. Mr. Forster, when recently asked at his warerooms as to the benefit he had derived from Athlaphora, answered as follows:

"Yes, I have used Athlaphora with the very best satisfaction. I have had neuralgia for many years, and could not find any medicine that would give me relief until I commenced using Athlaphora, and I can tell you I had used about everything."

"How did you first get confidence enough in Athlaphora to try it?"

"Well, it was just in this way. I was suffering very much at the time from my neuralgia. One Saturday evening Mr. Mallette, a manufacturer of wire mattresses, who is in business in Chicago, and lives at Elgin, Ill., came down to spend Sunday with me. Finding me suffering as I was he said:

"Get some Athlaphora. It is good, my wife used it and was cured of her neuralgia by it."

"Without waiting for me to say much about it he went out and bought a bottle of the medicine. I took some that night and the next day I was as free from pain as if I had never had neuralgia. I spent several hours in a walk that Sunday with Mr. Mallette, which the day before would have been misery for me. During the summer months I am never troubled with neuralgia, but if I should be again I would certainly use Athlaphora, for I am fully convinced of its merits."

"I have recommended Athlaphora to several persons and have yet to learn of an instance where it did not accomplish its mission. Among others I recommended it to Mrs. Richards, who lives in Casey, Ill. I saw her in the city a few days ago and asked her if she had used it. She said that she had taken two bottles. It was helping her, and she said that she was going to get some more."

Mrs. C. A. Armstrong, of No. 123 South Second street, is another resident of Terre Haute, Ind., whom Athlaphora has cured.

"I used it for neuralgia," she says, "and it cured me. I had been troubled for about three years with what seemed at times neuralgia, and then again rheumatism. I was never free from pain. The very first dose of Athlaphora I took gave me relief, and after using only two bottles my soreness is all gone and I am feeling much stronger. My daughter was also cured of neuralgia by it."

"Yes, I can say Athlaphora did everything for me," is the daughter's statement. "I was so sick with neuralgia that I could not sit up and suffered the greatest pain. Mother sent me a half bottle of Athlaphora, the first few doses of which gave me relief. All I used was the half bottle and I have not had any neuralgia since."

If you cannot get ATHLAPHORA of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed. ATHLAPHORA CO., 112 Wall Street, New York.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress, 12th District,
HON. ROBERT LOWRY, of Allen.

WHEREVER the slanderer is found, there humanity is arrayed against itself, and there the honey and the balm of life are turned to gall and nettles.

NINE-TENTHS of the worry of life is borrowed for nothing. Do your part; never leave it undone. Be industrious; be prudent; be courageous. Then throw anxiety to the winds. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof; therefore do not borrow any trouble for tomorrow.

SENATOR KENNA, it is now said, will accept the chairmanship of the democratic congressional campaign committee. A meeting will be held by the committee Friday for the purpose of taking steps to begin work. The president, it is reported, has manifested some interest in the matter.

At an entertainment given by an American Bric-a-brac (juvenile) Club, a ten-year-old member was heard to aver that "he really did not care for this sort of thing—a cigarette and a quiet chat were more in his line. Those girls bored him; they went for every fellow so infernally violent now, he preferred to do his smashing himself; and, in fact, altogether, he liked 'em mellow—say about thirty or—girls who knew what was what—no green gooseberries for him." A nice boy that for a small tea party.

The story of a strike, told in the results of the Hungarian riots in the coke region, is a dreary record. About ten persons were lost, and some twenty persons are probably injured for life. During the thirty days the conflict lasted 12,000 men were idle who should have been earning $1.41 a day, a total of $507,600. Beyond this is about $15,000 owing for rents and provisions during this period, and a loss by destruction of property not far from $150,000. The ten per cent. advance in wages and the momentary boom in coke are poor satisfaction for this waste.

WILL NOT STAND COMPARISON.

It is unjust and unthoughtful to make a comparison between the agricultural fair and soldiers' reunion. The latter is for a day to amuse a passing fancy, but the fair association has and is endeavoring to create a desire for scientific, progressive agriculture. Look about at the great stock farms, note the progress in all the peaceful pursuits and ask yourself honestly if they do not directly spring from the annual exhibitions of the fair association. A few years ago Clydesdales, Normans, thoroughbred trotters and Derby winners were unknown in this country. A Jersey, a Holstein or a Shorthorn was only seen at the fair exhibitions. To-day they grace a hundred farms and there is a spirit of improvement, of advancement and a desire to lead and succeed fastened on the minds of the farmers of Allen county, without whom Fort Wayne could not even invite a re-union. An early re-union may be proper and for a year or two a sham battle may not lose its novelty, but in advancing that project let no man ride thoughtlessly over the fact that the agricultural society has worked a revolution in agriculture and stock farming, which can be pointed to with pride and purpose, as it indicates prosperity, intelligence and worth destined to grow from year to year if the fair association is permitted to show advantages and opportunities for improvement.

The promoters of the fair have more of a pride than a hope for profit in holding annual exhibitions here. They have asked but for the good will of their fellow citizens and have never let an opportunity pass to increase the standing, resources and stability of the association they have maintained for public good, and now with most positive assurances of the greatest fair and horse races on record do not feel justified in risking their money and devoting their time to a project likely to be injured, perhaps forever, by a transitory gathering delayed to conflict with their interests.

$125 PER SQUARE FOOT.

"The most valuable ground in New York City," said a real estate agent who stood one sunny afternoon, looking at the heretofore vacant lot in front of the Grand Pacific Hotel, "is used as a grave yard. It is the Trinity Church lot, valued at $125 a square foot. That would make each grave worth $2,000. I was in New York a few weeks ago, and, so far as I could learn, the highest price ever paid for ground in that city was $101 per square foot for some lots on lower Broadway. The Equitable Assurance Company claims that it is block, bounded by Broadway, Nassau, Pine, and Cedar streets, is worth $12 a square foot, but I doubt if anybody would be willing to pay that much. I have heard of certain choice corners in Boston being sold at $130 and even $140 a foot, and think it quite likely. In Chicago I have not reached the hundred dollar mark yet, though there are corners which could not be bought for much less."—Chicago Herald.

ADVISE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Jan. 19-1904.

I think Ely's Cream Balm is the best remedy for catarrh I ever saw. I never took anything that relieved me so quickly and I have not felt so well for a long time. I used to be troubled with severe headaches two or three times a week, but since using the balm have only had one and that was very light compared with the former ones.—A. J. Alcorn, agent U. P. Ry. Co., Eaton, Co.

I find Ely's Cream Balm good for catarrh of long standing.—M. N. Lesley, 1824 West Chestnut St., Louisville.

Charles II.'s Ducks.

King Charles II., happily for his own peace of mind, lived before the days of Mr. Labouchere; otherwise there would, no doubt, have been a frightful row over the expenditure incurred by order of that gay and thoughtless monarch in making and maintaining the decoy for ducks in St. James' Park. Some of the items in the original account of "works and services" relating to the decoy done by royal direction, dated 30th of May, 1671, and signed by the King himself, would make a modern radical's blood boil. For instance, no less a sum than £128 2s. 11½d. was paid "to Edward Maybanke and Thomas Greene for digging the decoy and carrying out the earth, and leveling the ground about the said decoy." To Oliver Honey was paid £1 10s. "for paying the feeding-place for the ducks and breaking the ground." There is also in the account a charge of £246 18s. "for oatmeal, tares, hempseed, and other corn for the birds and fowls from September, 1660, to 24th June, 1670." This charge for "hempseed" is well worth attention, as it led to a frightful abuse, alluded to and exposed in the following note in Nichols' Tales, published in 1780: "I have heard that when Berenger was writing his 'History of Horsemanship,' he made the proper inquiries everywhere, and particularly at the King's mews. There he found a regular charge every year for 'hempseed.' It was allowed that none was used; but the charge had been regularly made since the reign of Charles II.; and it was recollected that this good-natured monarch was as fond of his ducks as his dogs, and took pleasure in feeding these fowls in the canal. It was therefore concluded that this new article of expense began in his time, and continued to be charged regularly long after any such seed was used or provided." It is to be hoped that Mr. Labouchere will ascertain by inquiry at the royal mews or elsewhere whether this charge for "hempseed" for Charles II.'s ducks is still going on.—St. James's Gazette.

A STORY WITH A MORAL.

At a theatrical entertainment a young lady with a three-story hat sat immediately in front of a newspaper man. Noticing that her exaggerated headgear obstructed the journalist's view of the stage, where a temperance lecture, or a scriptural panorama, or something else was taking place, the young lady, with a sweet smile, removed her hat and placed it in her lap. The newspaper man was profuse in his expression of thanks. The next day he caught a severe cold, contracted the pneumonia, and died a week later. When his will was read it was discovered that he had added a codicil, giving the young lady who sat in front of him in the theater $2,047,468. There is a moral in this.—Norristown Herald.

Remarkable Salt Deposit.

In Lincoln County, Nevada, on the Rio Virgin, is one of the most remarkable deposits of rock salt on the continent. It is found in hills five hundred feet above the level of the valley, and is chemically pure. Blocks of it over a foot square are so transparent that one may read a paper through them. So solid is this salt that it must be blasted out the same as if it were rock. This deposit of salt lies about three quarters of a mile west of the Rio Virgin and three miles south of the Mormon village of St. Thomas. There a body of this salt is exposed for a length of nearly two miles, which is about half a mile wide and of unknown depth. The deposit runs north and south, and is seen on the surface for a distance of over nine miles. In places the canyons have cut through it to a depth of sixty feet. At these points the Hiko Company formerly blasted out the salt required in working their ores. This great deposit of salt is situated at an altitude of eleven hundred feet above the level of the sea. It is undoubtedly very ancient, as in one place it has been covered by a flow of basaltic rock. In other places it is covered to a depth of from one to five feet with volcanic trite. At Sand Springs, in Churchill County, besides the salt that may be shoveled up from the surface, there is found a deposit of rock salt fourteen feet in depth. This salt is as transparent as the clearest ice, and does not contain a particle of any foreign or deleterious substance. It may be quarried the same as if it was marble. It is said that one man can quarry and wheel out five tons a day of this salt. It is only necessary to grind it to render it fit for table or dairy use. Sixty or seventy miles north of this, at the eastern base of the Dun Glen range of mountains, is the great Humboldt salt-field. This is about fifteen miles long and six miles wide. In summer, when the surface water has evaporated, salt to depth of three or four inches may be scraped up from the surface. Beneath the surface is a stratum of pure rock salt of unknown depth. This rock salt is so hard that in order to get it out rapidly it is necessary to blast it. Were a branch railroad to run to one of these deposits, salt would soon be a cheap article in the United States. As there are in the same localities great quantities of soda, borax, and other valuable minerals, it is probable that the day is not far distant when some of them will be tapped by branch railroads, which could be cheaply laid down through the level districts.—Dayton (Nev.) News Reporter.

The Telephone People Suggest a new Wrinkle to Evade
the Law.

The local telephone management is presenting a new agreement for the signature of patrons, all of whom do not readily grasp. It is drafted to evade the law, and is a proposition looking to the abolition of the rental system, and the substitution of a system of making an agent of every person who wishes to retain his instrument. This proposition is as follows:

Every connection will be charged for to the agent from whose office it is sent,
who is to collect five cents for every connection made by outsiders. An account for every connection made on the call of any agent, will be kept, and five cents for each one charged, subject to this commission.

The first fifty connections in a calendar month—50 per cent. commission.
The next 100 connections in a calendar
month, 50 per cent. commission.

The next 300 connections in a calendar
month, 75 per cent. commission.

The next 500 connections (and over) in a calendar month, 80 per cent. commission.

No commission is allowed on receipts for business going over the extra territorial lines. Connections are charged to the office from which the call is sent.
No charge is made against the office called up. The Central Union telephone company reserves the right to terminate the agency at any time should it fail to be remunerative or unsatisfactory, but otherwise the agreement to be in force and effect for a term of six months from the date of signature, and thereafter until the party of either part shall have given the party of the other part thirty days written notice of his or its desire to discontinue the same.

How He Mailed the Letters.

Lewiston's Handy Andy is a bell-boy in one of the hotels, who, in the singularity of his make-up and dress is a pretty good counterpart of Samuel Lover's famous blunderer. The boy in question is a stout fellow, with a healthy face and a robust form. He has a persistent way of fixing his eyes on somebody or something and holding them there, and it takes a brass band and a circus to induce him to move them before he gets ready. He was told to turn out the gas in the cellar the other day.
"I guess not," said he; "I have work enough to blow it out without bothering to turn it out." The secret of horrible odors in the cellar was forthwith explained. His latest trick came to light only a few days ago. It was, as it happened, on a busy day at the hotel, and a big bundle of letters that must go by the next train had accumulated. The boy was called up and directed as follows: "Here, Cholly, take these letters and put them in the mail-box at the postoffice, and see if there are any letters in the box, and be spy about it." Cholly put on his coat with a miniature ulster strap behind, and darted to the postoffice. He knew only one mail box, and that was the one from which he took the letters for the hotel. He unlocked it, took out the mail, and by dint of several minutes' hard work crowded the mail that he was directed to post into the small box and shut the door.
The crowded condition of the box was a surprise to the postoffice clerks all day, but they could do nothing about it. In the evening the mail was again sent for,
and the messenger this time was another boy. It was a picture for the sorrowful when the messenger came back with all the letters that the boy should have posted in the morning.
The boy, who was sent for, looked so absolutely innocent and free from guile that nobody could be angry with him, and, with two ideas in his noddle, he now turns out the gas and posts the United States mail.—Lewiston (Me.)

President Cleveland Married to Miss Frankie Folsom with Brief and Simple Ceremonies.

The Honeymoon at Deer Park is Pictured—Ladies Throng to the White House.

THE WEDDING.

Graphic Description of the Ceremony and Surroundings.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—President Cleveland and Miss Folsom were married in the White House at 7:25 last evening.

Towards evening one by one the lights sprung up at the windows and the great burners on the portico cast their effulgence over the pavements. The scene resembled a summer night's festival, and the crowd gave itself up to the enjoyment of the delightful music.

With short intermissions the fine orchestra rendered the following selections: Bolero, "I O son la Rosa," by Miramans; "Invitation a la Valse," by Weber; "Spring Song," by Mendelssohn; Romance, "Bright Star of Hope," and Mosaic "Desiree," by Sousa.

About half-past 6 o'clock the wedding guests began to arrive, their carriages rolling up to the main door of the mansion through the great iron gates on Pennsylvania avenue.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND.

The guests sat chatting until 7:15, when the orchestra from the marine band, stationed in the corridor, struck up the familiar strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march and all eyes were turned to the doorway to catch the first glimpse of the coming bride and groom. Starting from the western corridor on the upper floor, the president came slowly down the western stair case with his bride leaning on his arm. They were unaccompanied, even the bride's mother awaiting her with other guests. Passing through the central corridor the bride and groom entered the blue room and took position near its southern wall, which was completely hidden from sight by a mass of nodding pinks, tropical grasses and an endless variety of choice flowers. The crystal chandelier shed a flood of mellow radiance upon the scene and the colors of the massive banks of scarlet begonias and royal jessamine roses, mingled with the blue and silver tints of the frescoed walls and ceiling, gave a warm and glowing tone to the whole ceremonial interior. The delicate ivory scales of the bride's wedding gown formed an exquisite setting in the masses of crimson roses immediately beyond. The president was in full evening dress, with turned down collar, white lawn necktie and white enameled studs.

A hush fell upon the assemblage as Dr. Sunderland stepped forward to his position fronting the wedding couple with Rev. Cleveland, the president's brother. In a distinct tone of voice, and with a deliberate utterance, the doctor began the simple and beautiful wedding service by a brief prayer.

Addressing the company Dr. Sunderland said: "Marriage is honorable among all men, in that a man shall leave his father and mother and shall cleave unto his wife and the twain shall be of one flesh. It was constituted by our creator in the first paradise; it was confessed by patriarch and priest, prophet and apostle. It was confirmed by the teaching and adored by the presence of the Redeemer, and has been honored by the faithful keeping of all good men and women since the world began. It is not, therefore, to be undertaken lightly or unadvisedly, but soberly, discreetly and in the fear of God. Into this holy estate this man and this woman come now to enter. If any now can show just cause why they may not be lawfully united in marriage, let him now speak, or else hereafter hold his peace."

To the bride and groom—If you desire to be united in marriage, you will signify the same by joining your right hands.

[The groom and bride joined hands.] "Groom," said the minister, "do you take this woman whom you hold by the hand to be your lawful wedded wife, to live together after God's ordinance in the holy estate of wedlock? Do you promise to love her, cherish, comfort and keep her in sickness and in health, in joy and in sorrow, and, forsaking all others, keep you only unto her so long as you both shall live?"

The groom, firmly,—"I do." Dr. Sunderland—"Frances, do you take this man whom you hold by the hand to be your lawful wedded husband, to live together after God's ordinance in the holy estate of wedlock? Do you promise to love him, honor, comfort and keep him in sickness and in health, in joy and sorrow, and, forsaking all others, keep you only unto him so long as you both shall live?"

The bride responded, in a low but clear voice,—"I do."

"In token of the same let the wedding ring be passed." [The groom places the ring on the bride's finger.]

"For as much as Grover and Frances have here agreed and covenanted to live together after God's ordinance, in the holy estate of wedlock, and have confirmed the same by giving and taking a wedding ring, now, therefore, in the presence of this company, in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, I pronounce and declare that they are husband and wife, and what God hath joined together let no man put asunder."

The Rev. Mr. Cleveland then pronounced the following benediction:

"God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Ghost, bless, preserve and keep you. The Lord mercifully fill you with all the temporal and spiritual blessings, and grant that you may so live together in this world that in the world to come you may have life everlasting. Amen."

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Mrs. Folsom, showing traces of deep emotion, was the first to tender her congratulations to the newly married pair. She was followed by Miss Cleveland, Rev. Mr. Cleveland and other relatives and friends in turn. While the congratulations were in progress, the band under the leadership of Professor Sousa, performed the bridal chorus march from Lohengrin, and to this music the president and his wife led the way into the stately dining room.

The adornments in this stately hall were majestic in the proportions.

MRS. FOLSOM'S DRESSING ROOM.

428 Franklin street, Buffalo, N. Y.

After supper Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland quietly departed for Deer Park, where they will occupy a cottage for a week. The guests took their leave later.

The bride wore an enchanting wedding dress of ivory satin, simply garnished on the high corsage with Indian muslin crossed in Grecian folds and carried in exquisite folds of simple tulle over the petticoat. The orange blossom garlands, commencing upon the veil in a superb coronet, was continued throughout the costume, with artistic skill. Her veil of tulle, about five yards in length, completely enveloped her form, behind extending the whole length of her full court train. She carried no flowers, and wore no jewelry except an engagement ring containing a sapphire and two diamonds and a plain gold wedding ring, which had been placed upon her finger before she descended the stair case.

Just as the wedding ceremony began a presidential salute was fired by a battery of artillery near the river, and the chime bells of the Metropolitan M. E. church pealed forth the Mendelssohn wedding march, and bells in other churches joined in the happy salute. The gentlemen present at the wedding were not fortunate enough to receive a salute from the bride, who confined her kisses to the ladies. Otherwise the ceremony was orthodox in form. The executive mansion was opened to day and photographers received permission to perpetuate pictorially the elaborate decorations of the interior.

Mrs. Cleveland's hair is soft and brown, and of a shade between light and dark. She wears it combed back from her forehead and loose, wavy tendrils escape here and there. She has violet blue eyes and a rather large nose. Her eyebrows are very heavy and nearly meet. The chief and striking beauty of her face is her mouth and chin. Mr. Farnham, the artist, once said that Miss Folsom had the most beautiful mouth he had ever seen.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S CONGRATULATIONS.

LONDON, June 3.—The queen has sent the following cable message to President Cleveland:

"Pray accept my sincere congratulations on your marriage, and my best wishes for your happiness."

AT DEER PARK.

The President and Bride in Their Cottage.

DEER PARK, Md., June 3.—President Cleveland and bride arrived here at 4 o'clock this morning and are domiciled in one of the cottages to the hotel. There are but few persons here, as there was no knowledge that the bridal party would come here. President and Mrs. Cleveland are sojourning very quietly. A large influx of visitors is looked for.

MISS FRANKIE FOLSOM.

DEER PARK, Md., June 3.—The place which has been selected for the presidential honeymoon is on the crest of the Alleghenies. The house is what is known as the cottage of Ex-Senator Henry Davis, of West Virginia, and is situated about one-half mile east of Deer Park hotel, in the midst of a group of cottages. It is a large two story frame house constructed especially by its owner for the use of his family in the summer. The president and his bride will find abundant use for the horses with which his friends have provided them. The drives are a charming feature of the place, the roads being particularly well constructed. The president will not be annoyed by the presence of guests at the hotels at Deer Park and Oakland, as these hotels do not open until late in June.

Make a Rush for the White House.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Nearly 2,000 persons, principally ladies, entered the White House grounds to day in hope of being able to inspect the floral decorations and particularly the blue room, where the marriage was solemnized last evening. They were not admitted, and by 1 o'clock all the decorations were removed. Most of the flowers used in the decorations were distributed among the city hospitals.

A Locomotive Boiler Explodes With Awful Havoc.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 3.—A Baltimore and Ohio local freight, while standing on the track in the yard at Bellaire, Ohio, this morning, exploded its boiler with terrific force, killing Engineer Johnston, Fireman John Vandevort and Mat Hammond, the engineer of another engine, all of Newark, Ohio. Two of the bodies were blown one hundred yards. Fragments of the locomotive were blown through an adjoining house with great damage to the furniture. The shock was felt all over Bellaire, breaking glass in windows squares away.

ANOTHER TERRIBLE EXPLOSION. DETROIT, June 3.—Late last night, in Ecros, a small town west of here, an explosion wrecked the store of Joseph Salliet and badly injured four persons.

Miss Carrie Salliet, aged 18, had her left wrist broken and received internal injuries.

Mr. Salliet and wife were not seriously injured. Others were in the building but miraculously escaped. The cause of the explosion is a mystery.

ALL EXCITEMENT

In the Chicago Wheat Market To-day.

CHICAGO, June 3, 11:15 a. m.—The wheat pit was crowded with traders at the opening. The starting price for July wheat ranged any where from 77 1/2 @ 78 1/2 in different portions of the pit. The buyers largely outnumbered the sellers, however, and the price rose to 78 1/2, broke off quickly to 77 1/2, rose again to 77 3/4 and is now quoted at 78 with a nervous and unsettled feeling.

A GOOD ONE

WASHINGTON, June 3.—One of the last official acts of the president, previous to his marriage, was the pardoning of D. F. Bigelow, the defaulting agent of the National bank of this city, who three years ago was sentenced to five years imprisonment. OLEOMARGERINE.

The House Still Working on Bogus Butter.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—In the temporary absence of the speaker Mr. Welborn was designated speaker pro tem. Mr. O'Neill, from the committee on labor, reported back the senate bill extending the provisions of the eight hour law to the letter carriers. Placed on the house calendar.

The house then resumed consideration of the oleomargarine bill.

Local Option Defeated.

Attorney-General Herd has been discharged from the insane hospital very much improved in health. He was at his office yesterday morning, and will leave to-day for an extended trip in the Yellowstone park.

Col. C. C. Matson was renominated for congress by the fifth district democratic convention on the third ballot, receiving ninety-eight votes, eighty-nine being necessary to a choice. There was much enthusiasm.

GEN. F. E. SPINNER.

The news of the recent illness of ex-United States Treasurer Spinner brought regrets to all who have ever known him either in a business or a social way, for he was a straightforward business man and a genial friend and companion. But none will feel more sincere sorrow over the news of his ill health than the women employees of the treasury department, and in fact of the whole government. For it was Gen. Spinner who broke down the barrier which prevented their performing clerical work for the government. This occurred during the war when the regular clerks were disappearing to enlist in the army, and it looked as if there were not going to be men enough to go around. Then it was that the clerical Gen. Spinner suggested to President Lincoln that an opportunity be given women to take the men's places where possible. It is astonishing when we look at it to think of the opposition this idea met with. But Spinner gained his point, and the entrance of women into the government service may be looked upon as a "war measure" just as Ben Butler's suggestion to make the "darkies contrabands."

Gen. Spinner was born in New York state in 1802. His father was a clergyman and the cashier of the Mohawk Valley bank for twenty years. He gave his son a classical education. He learned several trades and then embarked as a merchant. He was appointed and held responsible positions in the New York custom house from 1845 to 1848. He was elected to the Thirty-fourth congress as an anti-slavery Democrat, and re-elected to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth congresses, though he was elected to the latter as a Republican. On March 10, 1861, President Lincoln appointed him treasurer of the United States, soon after which his wonderful autograph on the paper money became a welcome visitor in the households of the land. This signature, which was reproduced in facsimile, will always remain one of the curiosities of chronology. Since the general's sojourn in Florida during the past ten years, it was remarked that the alligators avoided his locality. Why this was could not be determined, until one day a large "gator" was noticed crawling out on the bank of a bayou where the general had, as was his habit, inscribed his name with his cane in the soft mud. The alligator stopped when he came to the signature, looked at it in a puzzled sort of way and then dashed back into the bayou as if the mysterious hieroglyphics portended some terrible calamity for him, at least this is the way the story goes.

Gen. Spinner retired to private life July 1, 1875. When he did so all the wealth in the United States treasury had to be counted. Then it was that a deficiency was discovered amounting to one cent. To account for this a memorable recounting took place, requiring days upon days, until the missing cent was found and the general retired from the treasury, leaving balanced books.

LIFE STUDIES.

DESPAIR means that the last bridge is gone. The violin that is kept constantly in tune will lose its tone.

THERE is not much difference between careless extravagance and a hole in the pocket.

"HEAVEN REVEALED," is the title of a work recently issued. Another cook book, most likely.

It is better for the general health of a community to have one good-natured man in a neighborhood than four doctors.

THE parent who never tell a child that he loves it except when about to give it a good licking makes a terrible mistake.

THE average plug hat only weighs a few ounces, and yet the effect it has on some men is to make them feel as though they weighed a ton.

SOME people go on the principle that the best discipline for a boy is to find out what he doesn't like, and then give him oceans of that very thing.

AN Irishman wrote home to his friends over the briny that in this blessed land everybody is so honest, a reward has to be offered for thieves.

THE average man goes about some things with as much awe as an old maid would handle a razor. Coming in from the lodge at two a. m., for instance.

IN every life there comes a time when hope is crushed, but the man with a healthy liver and a shirt that doesn't pinch in the neck seldom gets discouraged.

SOME folks claim that there is no evil that is not followed by an overplus compensating good. At Pueblo, Colorado, a cat and dog, which had been playing with some clothing belonging to a child that had been taken with scarlet fever, both took the disease and died. Discouraged people who have lost faith in lost-jacks should pause in their faith.—Lige Brown, in Chicago Ledger.

BLAINE!

Is Severely Scored and Criticised,

But Explains His Recent Home Rule Utterances to Relieve a Personal Thrust.

The Home Rule Bill Will Arrive at a Test Vote Next Monday.

JAMES J. BLAINE

Is Fiercely Assailed, but Explains Himself.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 3.—The Kennebec Journal this morning publishes a letter from Mr. Blaine, denying that in his recent speech at Portland he had applied the words "impudent," "insolent and "brutal" to Lord Salisbury. Mr. Blaine writes: "I was referring to his lordship's declaration that the Irish might remain as they now are or emigrate and I said interrogatively 'Is not this an impudent proposition?' Does it indeed stop short of being brutal in its cruelty? It is parliamentary to say that a statement is not true, but altogether unparliamentary to say that its author is guilty of falsehood. The first describes the thing, the second assails the persons. My characterization was aimed at the proposition and not at Lord Salisbury personally."

MR. BLAINE ABRAIGNER.

LONDON, June 1.—The Times commenting on Blaine's Portland speech, says, "Mr. Blaine may or may not catch the Irish vote by such performances, and so with the prize, which, fully as much on personal as on political grounds has been snatched from him once and again; but we refuse to believe that his ignorant and presumptuous rant represents honest and independent opinion and the reflection of the Americans. It is peculiarly absurd that he should pose as an advocate of a plan which he supposes, quite wrongly of course, would place Ireland in the position of a state of the Union. He has been conspicuous for the same reasons which now make him a flatterer of the Irish, in the bloody shirt campaign against the southern state rights and if any southern state should now attempt to deprive negroes of suffrage he would be first to favor a settlement of that local affair by the armed interference of the central government."

HOME RULE BILL.

LONDON, June 3.—It is probable that the conservatives will, to-morrow, move in the house of commons that a censure be applied to the home rule debate in order to secure a division on the second reading before Whit Sunday.

It is not likely that the government will oppose the motion. Mr. Gladstone has fixed Monday as the date for the division.

Yellow Fever Raging.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Private advices received to-day from Ceylon state that the yellow fever is now epidemic on the isthmus. Average daily number of deaths about fifty.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Wheat, 1 @ 1 1/2 c, higher. No. 2 red, June 85 1/2 @ 86 1/2. Corn, shade easier, dull, 37 @ 44 1/2. Oats, dull, weak, 37 @ 44 1/2.

CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, June 3.—The Bull movement in wheat continued again to-day until the close. July touched 79 1/2, an advance of 5/16 from the lowest figure yesterday. Close nearly at top figures, at 77 1/2 c. Corn, steady at 85 1/2 c. Oats, steady at 26 1/2 c.

A BIG LOCKOUT.

Is Momentarily Threatened at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—A great lockout of plaining mill employees and carpenters, 15,000 in all, is threatened.

HELLO, THERE.
The Telephone People Suggest a new Wrinkle to Evade the Law.
The local telephone management is presenting a new agreement for the signature of patrons, all of whom do not readily grasp. It is drafted to evade the law, and is a proposition looking to the abolition of the rental system, and the substitution of a system of making an agent of every person who wishes to retain his instrument. This proposition is as follows:
Every connection will be charged for to the agent from whose office it is sent, who is to collect five cents for every connection made by outsiders. An account for every connection made on the call of any agent, will be kept, and five cents for each one charged, subject to this commission.
The first fifty connections in a calendar month—50 per cent. commission.
The next 100 connections in a calendar month, 50 per cent. commission.
The next 300 connections in a calendar month, 75 per cent. commission.
The next 500 connections (and over) in a calendar month, 80 per cent. commission.
No commission is allowed on receipts for business going over the extra territorial lines. Connections are charged to the office from which the call is sent. No charge is made against the office called up. The Central Union telephone company reserves the right to terminate the agency at any time should it fail to be remunerative or unsatisfactory, but otherwise the agreement to be in force and effect for a term of six months from the date of signature, and thereafter until the party of either part shall have given the party of the other part thirty days written notice of his or its desire to discontinue the same.

How He Mailed the Letters.
Lewiston's Handy Andy is a bell-boy in one of the hotels, who, in the singularity of his make up and dress is a pretty good counterpart of Samuel Lover's famous blunderer. The boy in question is a stout fellow, with a healthy face and a robust form. He has a persistent way of fixing his eyes on somebody or something and holding them there, and it takes a brass band and a circus to induce him to move them before he gets ready. He was told to turn out the gas in the cellar the other day. "I guess not," said he; "I have work enough to blow it out without bothering to turn it out." The secret of horrible odors in the cellar was forthwith explained. His latest trick came to light only a few days ago. It was, as it happened, on a busy day at the hotel, and a big bundle of letters that must go by the next train had accumulated. The boy was called up and directed as follows: "Here, Cholly, take these letters and put them in the mail-box at the postoffice, and see if there are any letters in the box, and be sure about it." Cholly put on his coat with a miniature ulster strap behind, and darted to the postoffice. He knew only one mail box, and that was the one from which he took the letters for the hotel. He unlocked it, took out the mail, and by dint of several minutes' hard work crowded the mail that he was directed to post into the small box and shut the door. The crowded condition of the box was a surprise to the postoffice clerks all day, but they could do nothing about it. In the evening the mail was again sent for, and the messenger this time was another boy. It was a picture for the sorrowful when the messenger came back with all the letters that the boy should have posted in the morning. The boy, who was sent for, looked so absolutely innocent and free from guile that nobody could be angry with him, and, with two items in his noddle, he now turns out the gas and posts the United States mail.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.
